

Grand Librarian's Competition 2021

All Nebraska Job's Daughters are encouraged to participate in the Grand Librarian's competitions. Hopefully there is a competition that appeals to everyone. This is a great way to express yourself using your creative side. This year's theme, "Celebrating the 100th Anniversary".

POEM – "What have I experienced or Witnessed as a Job's Daughter"

In commemoration of the 100th Anniversary of our order I am requesting something a little different for the Librarian Competition. I would like each of you who wish to compete to write a poem. The poem should describe something you have personally experienced or witnessed as a Job's Daughter. It can be about an event or some act of kindness or generosity that has touched your heart. Basically, it should describe something that has made you feel that being a Jobie has truly enriched your life in some way. Sharing experiences like those will often times lead to a deeper understanding of ourselves and the people around us. Afterall, that is what we strive to accomplish in our Order and in our lives.
